About Rachel

Rachel Gordon has been helping schools and not-for-profit organisations find and apply for grants for over 9 years. She has written winning bids to secure funds for a wide range of projects from playgrounds and sports equipment, to after-school clubs and extended services. She has delivered fundraising workshops across the country at education conferences including EdExec Live and the School Finance Conference. She has also written articles for FundEd, EdExec, Headteacher Update and SecEd.

Recent successes:

Primary school in Washington – We wrote a successful bid for £10,000 for a playground redevelopment project, replacing the old trim trail with a new one. We conducted a detailed consultation with the school and supplemented it with our own secondary research to put forward a strong case for support.

Recent successes:

Primary school in Sunderland – We helped the school to design an outstanding outdoor project and write a winning bid. The 'Positive Little People Outdoor Nurture Project' received £10,000 for a shelter, which will be used as a magical outdoor library and safe space for the children.

Recent successes:

Primary school in Newcastle – We have so far raised £14,000 towards the development of the Early Years area at the school.
